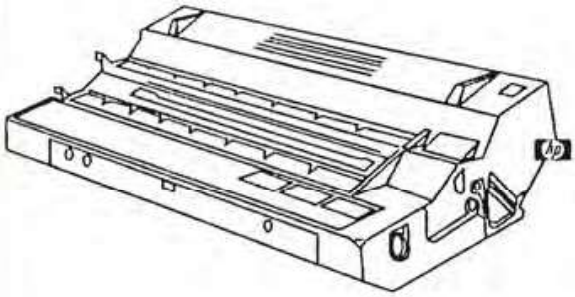
Documents printed using HP LaserJet toner cartridges look good no matter how close you look.



HEWLETT PACKARD

Rich, black toner can make your documents look great. As long as it stays where it belongs–away from places that are supposed to be white. Like margins. The middle of e's and a's. Or the space between the stem and dot of an i.

When you use HP LaserJet toner cartridges you get black blacks and white whites. No compromises. Because everything that goes into the cartridge, from the toner formula to the quality components, is designed to work specifically with your HP LaserJet printer to give you the best print quality possible.

GLEN TAYLOR

GENERAL PARTNER & CHAIRMAN

On August 5, 1994, former Minnesota state senator Glen Taylor found himself back in the public spotlight when he reached an agreement to buy the Timberwolves from Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson. The sale ended months of speculation about the long-term future of the team and guaranteed that the franchise would remain a part of the Minnesota sports scene for years to come.

"The decision to buy the team was made with both my heart and my head," said Taylor. "First and foremost, I am a fan who wanted the NBA to stay in our state."

Taylor, 53, is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, MN, 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, graphics, office supply and electronics industries, include more than 45 operating divisions in 12 states, three Canadian provinces and the United Kingdom. Their employees number more than 7,000, including at least 4,000 Minnesotans. Taylor also owns Taylor Bancshares, which includes six banks in Minnesota.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationary stores.

Taylor's business savvy was recognized by Corporate Report magazine which honored him as its 1987 Executive of the Year.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, his fellow senators elected him Senate minority leader.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He's also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association. Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

Taylor, who takes over ownership of the team with a group of limited partners, promises to bring to the Timberwolves the same ambition and drive that he used to develop the Taylor Corporation. "I will put together the best organization I can think of so that the possibility of a very successful team in Minnesota will be there-one that we can all be proud of," Taylor said during a news conference announcing the sale. "I'm very confident that will happen."

Taylor, born on April 20, 1941, graduated from Comfrey (MN) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Taylor is the father of five children: Terri, Jean, Taylor Moor, Jeff and Kendahl.

The trademark broadcasters call of "he shoots, he scores" will take on a whole new meaning to Rob Moor this season. After spending the past seven seasons with the National Hockey League's Los Angeles Kings, including this past year in the position of executive vice president, Moor moves to the NBA and his first season as president of the Timberwolves.

Under Moor's direction, the sport of hockey underwent unparalleled growth in Southern California. The Kings went from averaging under 11,000 fans a game to become the only Los Angeles-based professional sports team to sellout every home game during the 1991-92 season.

During his stay with the Kings, Moor's expertise also was instrumental in the development, formation and acquisition of several companies, including the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, Upper Deck Authenticated and MultiVision Marketing and Public Relations.

In his role as president of MultiVision, Moor created numerous projects and spin-off companies, including the overall direction of the NHL's 24-city Neutral Site tour in 1992-93 and the pioneering of rotational dasherboard systems for the NHL, an idea he eventually introduced into Major League Baseball.

It was under Moor's creative auspices that a successful joint venture was formed, resulting in Upper Deck Authenticated, a prominent national manufacturer and distributor of sports memorabilia, holding exclusive memorabilia rights to numerous athletes, ranging from Michael Jordan to Mickey Mantle.

Moor began his professional career in the entertainment industry at MGM Studios, starting in the production area and moving to distribution. While at MGM, he was involved in its merger with United Artists and subsequent sale to Ted Turner. Shortly thereafter, Moor joined Twentieth Century Fox Studios where he specialized in the areas of royalties, licensing and profit participation.

A native of Geneva, Switzerland, Moor moved to the United States in 1966 and was raised in Santa Barbara, CA. He is a graduate of the University of California at Irvine. Moor and his wife, Taylor, were recently wed in Scotland.

JACK McCLOSKEY

GENERAL MANAGER

Entering his 22nd season in the NBA, Jack McCloskey brings a wealth of experience to a young Timberwolves franchise. The former general manager of the two-time NBA champion Detroit Pistons also carries the attitude of a winner.

As general manager of the Timberwolves, McCloskey's duties include authority over all basketball-related aspects of the organization, including coaching, player personnel, scouting and trades.

Since being named the first general manager in team history on June 1, 1992, McCloskey has quickly established a blueprint for success. The drafting of Christian Laettner, Isaiah Rider and Donyell Marshall, along with trades for Stacey King and Micheal Williams and future draft picks, provides the Timberwolves with a solid foundation for the future.

McCloskey's background reveals a man ideally suited to complete the construction of a championship team. For 13 years prior to coming to Minnesota, McCloskey served as general manager of the Detroit Pistons. At the time of his arrival, Pistons managing partner William Davidson called the addition of McCloskey, "a positive step in the building of our franchise to an NBA championship level." The Pistons went on to win two NBA championships, three Eastern Conference titles and three Central Division crowns under McCloskey's leadership. Throughout his career at Detroit, McCloskey was frequently mentioned among the top executives of the year in the NBA.

Known throughout the NBA as "Trader Jack," McCloskey, 68, has demonstrated the ability to make a trade that provides an immediate contribution to his team. In 1988-89, his acquisition of Mark Aguirre added to this reputation, as the Pistons won 45 of their final 53 games and went on to win their first NBA championship. McCloskey's drafting of Isiah Thomas, Dennis Rodman, Joe Dumars and John Salley, combined with 43 trades in his 13 years at Detroit, contributed to his reputation as an astute judge of talent. As the Pistons' general manager, McCloskey compiled a .579 (635-462) regular-season winning percentage and a .628 (71-42) NBA playoff victory percentage.

Prior to his general manager stint in Detroit, McCloskey served as an assistant coach with the Indiana Pacers during the 1979-80 season. He also assisted Jerry West, now the executive vice president of basketball operations of the Los Angeles Lakers, for three seasons (1976-79) on the Lakers coaching staff. McCloskey began his NBA career in 1972-73, when he took over as head coach of the expansion Portland Trail Blazers for two seasons.

A native of Mahoney City, PA, McCloskey graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1948. During his playing days at Penn, he was an acknowledged all-around athlete, participating in basketball, football and baseball. His post-collegiate athletic career included eight years in the American and Eastern Basketball Leagues (twice earning Eastern League MVP honors), a brief stint in the NBA and four years of professional baseball in the Philadelphia A's organization.

After a successful high-school coaching career, McCloskey returned to Penn in 1956 for 10 seasons as its head coach, compiling a 146-105 record. He later took over the head coaching job at Wake Forest for six seasons before moving on to the NBA.

In April 1994, McCloskey was inducted into the Big 5 Hall of Fame for his 10-year coaching stint at Penn. He was also a 1981 inductee into the Jerry Wolman Chapter of the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame. Still a competitive athelete, McCloskey is a top senior tennis player, having won several tournaments. And in 1991, he was a gold medalist in the Senior Olympics for 3-on-3 basketball. Jack and his wife, Leslie, reside in Minneapolis.

BILL BLAIR

HEAD COACH

For Bill Blair, the number 13 is lucky. After 13 seasons as an assistant coach in the NBA, he finally has a team of his own. On Aug. 29, Timberwolves general manager Jack McCloskey named Blair the team's new head coach. He replaces Sidney Lowe, who was relieved of his head coaching duties 12 days earlier.

"We are excited to bring in a coach the caliber of Bill Blair," McCloskey said. "He impressed everyone with his knowledge and direction. He has been a part of some quality coaching staffs and he knows what it takes to be successful in this league."

Blair, 52, comes to the Timberwolves following a successful 1993-94 season with the Indiana Pacers. As an assistant to Larry Brown, Blair helped the Pacers to a 47-35 mark and a playoff run that took the club all the way to the seventh game of the Eastern Conference finals. Known as a defensive specialist, Blair was instrumental in Indiana decreasing its points allowed per game from 106.1 in 1992-93 to 97.5 last season.

Blair's NBA coaching resume also includes assistant stints in Washington, Chicago and New Jersey, and an assistant coach/scout position with the Pacers. He served under Kevin Loughery and Wes Unseld on Washington's staff from 1986-92. Prior to joining the Bullets, Blair spent one season (1985-86) with the Pacers. He worked two seasons on the bench with Loughery in Chicago (1983-85), where he helped the Bulls to their first winning season in five years, and two campaigns in New Jersey (1981-83), where he was a part of Larry Brown's 1981-82 staff that helped the Nets make an NBA record 20-game turnaround.

Blair also served as an assistant coach on the 1981 men's Olympic basketball team working with Brown and Boston Celtic front office executive, Dave Gavitt.

Prior to starting his NBA career in 1981, Blair was a head coach at the collegiate level at his alma mater Virginia Military Institute and the University of Colorado. He spent four seasons (1972-76) at the helm of VMI, leading his 1975-76 team to a 22-10 record — the school's first winning record in 32 years — and to the Elite Eight in the NCAA tournament. At Colorado, Blair recorded a 67-69 (.493) mark in five seasons (1976-81). He directed the Buffaloes to three straight winning seasons from 1978-81.

A native of Whitesburg, KY., Blair graduated from VMI in 1964. He captained the Keydets basketball team in his senior season while earning all-conference honors and helping the team to an appearance in the NCAA tournament. He ranks 20th on VMI's all-time scoring list with 1,023 points (17.3 ppg). He was drafted in the fourth round of the NBA Draft by the St. Louis Hawks, but opted to play and coach for the Army in Korea and the United States. He posted a 37-4 record as head coach of two Army service teams.

Blair's coaching success began in Virginia high schools where he was 41-18 (.695) as a varsity coach and 32-7 with the junior varsity (.821).

Blair, born on May 17, 1942, was a prep standout at Randolph-Macon Academy in Fort Royal, VA. Bill and his wife, Kathie, have two daughters, Kristine and Candace.

KEVIN McHALE

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

It doesn't take Kevin McHale long to excel at his job. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he earned first-team All-Big 10 honors in 1980, playing for the University of Minnesota basketball team; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his first season with the team.

McHale continues that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, being promoted to assistant general manager after just one season with the team. On Aug. 19th, general manager Jack McCloskey created the position of assistant GM and put McHale in place, hoping to utilize McHale's experience in and knowledge of the game of basketball.

"I'm happy to be with the Timberwolves," McHale said. "This team is going in the right direction. I look forward to learning the nuances of the NBA from Jack. This is an exciting time in the team's short history, and I'm glad to be aboard."

Last season, McHale served as a special assistant to the coaching staff, working exclusively with the team's front-court players, and he will continue in those duties this season. That position utilizes the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which recently culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys.

McCloskey said he had wanted to make this change for some time, hoping to take advantage of McHale's experience on and off the court.

"I'm really pleased that Kevin will be playing an important role for us in his new position," he said. "He will be a tremendous asset to me as well as to our on-court players."

For those fans who enjoyed McHale's broadcast analysis of Timberwolves games last season, he will continue in that capacity as well. McHale returns with his unique style and perspective for a second season of work with the Timberwolves broadcast team. McHale, 36, will handle game analysis for 25 televised games while working with play-by-play man Kevin Harlan and broadcast studio anchor Tom Hanneman on the Timberwolves Television Network. In his first season behind the microphone, McHale brought insight and wit to his game analysis, which also included filling in on Prime Sports Network television broadcasts and joining Harlan and Hanneman on their radio broadcasts.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played for Boston for 13 years, announcing his retirement in the spring of 1993. He helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships, five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. McHale was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times.

A native of Hibbing, MN, McHale first made a name for himself by playing basketball for Hibbing High School — he graduated in 1976. He went on to star at the University of Minnesota for four years. He graduated in 1980 and then was drafted by Boston in the first round (third overall) of the 1980 NBA Draft.

McHale and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, MN.

ASSISTANT COACHES

MIKE SCHULER

For the third time in his coaching career, Mike Schuler finds himself on the bench next to Bill Blair. On Sept. 6, Blair made Schuler the first addition to his new Timberwolves coaching staff.

Schuler and Blair shared the sidelines for the first time in 1969 when Schuler hired Blair to be his assistant at Virginia Military Institute (VMI). After serving together for three seasons at VMI, the duo was reunited for two seasons (1981-83) with the New Jersey Nets, where both served as assistants under Larry Brown.

Schuler brings over 32 years of coaching experience to the Timberwolves, most recently as an assistant to Gary St. Jean in Sacramento last season.

The 53-year-old Ohio native enters his 14th season in the NBA, splitting his previous 13 seasons between assistant and head coaching positions. He began his NBA career in New Jersey in 1981. From there he moved to Milwaukee where he spent three campaigns working on Don Nelson's staff.

In 1986, Schuler accepted his first NBA head coaching assignment with the Portland Trail Blazers. In his first season, he improved the Blazers from a 40-42 mark the previous season to a 49-33 record and a second-place finish in the Pacific Division. He was a consensus selection for NBA Coach of the Year honors, leading Portland to a league-high scoring average of 117.9 ppg. The following season he guided the Blazers to a 53-29 record and another second-place finish in the Pacific Division.

After one season (1989-90) at Golden State, Schuler was named head coach of the Los Angeles Clippers in the summer of 1990, where he stayed until February of 1992. During his five-year NBA head coaching career, Schuler has compiled an impressive 179-159 record (.530) winning percentage.

A 1962 graduate of Ohio University, Schuler spent three years as a high-school coach before joining Bobby Knight's staff at Army in 1965. In 1966, he returned to his collegiate alma mater where he served as an assistant for three seasons. He was named head coach at VMI in 1969, remaining there until 1972 when he joined the coaching staff at Virginia. Following five seasons as an assistant at Virginia, Schuler took over the head coaching reigns at Rice University, inheriting a program that had compiled only 17 wins in three previous seasons. In 1980-81, he earned Southwest Conference Coach of the Year honors after leading the Owls to a respectable 12-15 record.

Schuler and his wife, Gloria, have two daughters, Kimberly and Kristin.

RANDY WITTMAN

Considered by Timberwolves head coach Bill Blair to be one of the more exciting young assistants in the NBA, Randy Wittman joined the team's coaching staff on Sept. 9, 1994.

Wittman, 35, comes to the Wolves from the Dallas Mavericks where he spent last season as an assistant coach on Quinn Buckner's staff. Prior to joining the Mavericks, Wittman served one season (1992-93) as an assistant under Bob Hill with the Indiana Pacers.

A 1983 graduate of Indiana University, Wittman played nine seasons in the NBA. He was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Bullets, but was dealt by them to the Atlanta Hawks prior to the start of the 1983-84 season. During his nine-year NBA playing career, Wittman saw action with the Hawks, Sacramento Kings and Indiana Pacers. He averaged 7.4 points per game, shooting .501 percent from the floor, in 543 career games.

A two-time Academic All-America at Indiana, Wittman was a member of the 1981 Indiana University NCAA championship team and was named co-player of the year in the Big Ten as a senior in 1983.

GREG BALLARD

Greg Ballard joined head coach Bill Blair's staff on Sept. 28, 1994. He came to Minnesota from the Dallas Mavericks where he served as assistant coach alongside fellow Wolves assistant Randy Wittman.

Ballard, 39, had worked as an international scout for Burghy Roma of the Italian League before returning to the NBA to serve on Quinn Buckner's staff in Dallas.

The fourth overall pick in the 1977 NBA Draft, Ballard played eight seasons with the Washington Bullets, including his rookie season on their 1978 NBA championship squad. He was traded to Golden State in June, 1985, and played two seasons with the Warriors before heading to Italy where he played for a year-and-a-half. He also had a brief stint in the CBA and with the Seattle SuperSonics. He returned to Italy to serve as an assistant coach on the 1989-90 Il Messagero Roma team, which featured Danny Ferry and Brian Shaw.

Ballard owns a career average of 12.4 points per game in 802 NBA regular-season contests. He posted a career-high average of 18.8 points per game in the 1981-82 season.

A native of Los Angeles, Ballard was a highly regarded baseball prospect as a pitcher and was drafted by the Montreal Expos in the 15th round of the 1973 free-agent baseball draft. Greg and his wife, Donna, have three children, Lawrence, Gabrielle and Gregory, Jr.

ROB BABCOCK Director of Player Personnel

Rob Babcock is in his first season as the Timberwolves' director of player personnel. He was promoted to that position after spending the past two seasons as a full-time scout with the organization. He will assist general manager Jack McCloskey and assistant general manager Kevin McHale in all player personnel decisions.

Babcock spent five seasons as the Denver Nuggets' director of scouting before joining the Timberwolves for the 1992-93 season. He also has held part-time scouting positions with the Detroit Pistons, Cleveland Cavaliers, San Diego Clippers and Indiana Pacers.

Prior to working in the pros, Babcock was the head basketball coach at Phoenix (Ariz.) College, where his teams advanced to the ACCAC playoffs twice and were the regional runners-up in 1986.

A native of Phoenix, Babcock earned high-school All-America basketball honors in his senior season. He attended Grand Canyon College in Phoenix and helped his team to a second-place finish in the 1974 NAIA championships.

Following his graduation from Grand Canyon, Babcock began his coaching career in Mexico City at the American School Foundation. From Mexico City, he returned to Phoenix where he coached at Greenway and Maryvale high schools. In 1982, he was named Southwest Valley Coach of the Year.

Rob's brother, Pete, is vice president/general manager of the Atlanta Hawks. Rob and his wife, Laura, and their two sons, Nathan and Christopher, recently moved to the Twin Cities area from Denver.

STAN NOVAK Scouting Director

With over 40 years of professional basketball experience, Stan Novak is a valuable asset to the Timberwolves. He was promoted to scouting director during the off-season, after spending the previous two seasons as a full-time scout with the team. Novak's knowledge of basketball, along with his keen ability to assess talent, is tapped to help acquire the top talent available. His job duties of scouting basketball games and evaluating pro prospects keep him on the road much of the season, traveling the world for future Timberwolves players.

Novak came to Minnesota after spending 12 seasons as the scouting director with the Detroit Pistons. He was a key contributor in the draft selections of Joe Dumars, John Salley and Dennis Rodman, players who helped the Pistons win back-to-back NBA championships.

Prior to joining the Pistons, Novak's background included 31 years as a player and coach in the Continental and Eastern Basketball Leagues. He began his career as a player-coach in Sudbury, PA, in 1949, where his teammates included current Wolves general manager Jack McCloskey and legendary NBA coach Jack Ramsay. He also coached teams in Trenton, NJ, and the Pennsylvania cities of Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Allentown and Lancaster. He was honored as coach of the year in 1977.

During his first 18 years coaching in the Eastern League, Novak also coached Springfield Township High School in Montgomery County, PA, where he posted an .850 winning percentage.

A native of Philadelphia, Novak graduated from West Philadelphia High School and the University of Pennsylvania. He captained the 1948 Penn basketball team. Novak and his wife, Carolyn, reside in Philadelphia and have two children, Edward and Susan, living in that area.

BORIS KAREBIN International Scout

Boris Karebin is in his second season as international scout for the Timberwolves. His duties include scouting international tournaments and championships, as well as keeping up to date on all international players. Karebin discovered Andres Guibert, who became the first Cuban-born player to participate in an NBA game when he saw game action with the Timberwolves last season.

Karebin, 39, possesses extensive European coaching experience. He began his career with Korabel in Nikolaev, Ukraine in 1983. He took over a team that consistently ranked near the bottom of the division and led them to a first place tie in Division I in the 1984-85 USSR championships. He also served as director of player personnel/assistant coach for Budivelnik in Kiev, Ukraine from 1987-90. Budivelnik claimed its first USSR national championship in 1989 when Alexander Volkov, who later went on to play for the Atlanta Hawks, hit a half court shot at the buzzer to win the game. From 1987-90, Karebin served as head coach of the Ukrainian National team.

Karebin earned a coaching degree from Kharkov Technical College and Moscow Institute of Physical Culture. Boris and his wife, Natasha, have one son, David.

TARGET CENTER

On October 16, 1990, Target Center arena opened in the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district. The Timberwolves played the Philadelphia 76ers in an exhibition game that evening, and the thousands of basketball fans that had watched the team play its first season across town in the Metrodome, jammed the new state-of-the art Target Center to its rafters. The basketball fans have been filling it ever since.

In addition to serving as the home court for the Timberwolves, Target Center plays host to a diverse group of sports and entertainment events. Included among the wide range of events held at Target Center in its first four years are: NHL Hockey, Roller Hockey International, the 1992 Davis Cup semifinals, Billy Joel, Sesame Street Live, Walt Disney's World on Ice, Neil Young, the Harlem Globetrotters, First Banks Cup Tennis, the 1991 United States National Figure Skating Championships, John Mellencamp, Garth Brooks, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, the Tier II State High School Hockey Tournament, Elton John, Bruce Springsteen, U2 and many more events. The 1995 NCAA Women's Basketball Final Four, Zurah Temple Shrine Circus and the Longhorn World Championship Rodeo are some of the events scheduled to come to Target Center.

Target Center events take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility features a world-class health club, a full service restaurant, $4.00 event parking in garages across the street, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and the highest restroom-to-patron ratio in the industry. The building also offers excellent sightlines, handicapped accessibility, comfortable, theater-style seats and complete access through the skyway system parking ramps.

NOVEMBER (3-8): The Timberwolves got off to a rough start in November, dropping the first five games of the season for the first time in franchise history. They did, however, rally over the last six games of the month by picking up three wins. The Wolves halted their five-game skid with a 102-98 triumph at Milwaukee on Nov. 16, with Christian Laettner contributing 29 points and nine rebounds in the first win in team history at Bradley Center. The Timberwolves picked up their other two wins at Target Center, downing Sacramento (113-108 on Nov. 19) and New Jersey (107-106 on Nov. 24, as Chuck Person hit the game-winning shot with three seconds left on the clock). On the stat sheet, Laettner was Minnesota's leading scorer (17.5 ppg, hitting for 22 points-or-more in six games) and rebounder (8.0 rpg). Micheal Williams, whose NBA record consecutive free-throw streak ended at 97 on Nov. 9 in San Antonio, averaged 17.2 ppg and a team-leading 8.6 apg.

DECEMBER (5-12, 8-20): Weighed down by a month-ending seven-game losing streak, the Timberwolves wrapped up their December schedule with 12 losses in 17 games. The month had started on a much different note as the Wolves won three of four games on a West Coast swing, defeating Sacramento (111-101 on Dec. 1), Golden State (103-91 on Dec. 2) and the Los Angeles Lakers (101-99 on Dec. 5). Part of the reason for the Timberwolves' downfall was the loss of six of seven games played at Target Center. The lone victory came over the Los Angeles Clippers by a 109-108 score on Dec. 10, as the Wolves were paced by a game-high 27 points from rookie Isaiah Rider. One week later, Rider, who averaged 17.3 ppg and .496 shooting for the month, scored 32 points to help the Wolves defeat the Clippers on the road, 105-90. Christian Laettner was Minnesota's leading scorer (18.1 ppg) and rebounder (9.4 rpg) for the month, and Micheal Williams paced the club in assists with 6.9 apg and added 17.9 ppg.

JANUARY (6-7, 14-27): Riding a wave of momentum at Target Center with five wins in seven matchups (which represents the second-best home month in team history), the Timberwolves chalked up six wins in 13 January games. Minnesota's home wins came against Denver (109-95 on Jan. 5), Boston (108-90 on Jan. 8), Orlando (96-92 on Jan. 14, with the Wolves going 30-for-33 from the FT line to snap a five-game losing streak against the Magic), San Antonio (93-83 on Jan. 20) and Utah (100-98 on Jan. 26, as Chuck Person sank a 20-footer with 1.9 seconds left). Minnesota's one road win came at Dallas on Jan. 12, by a 103-85 count. Rookie Isaiah Rider, who was selected to play in the Schick Rookie game at All-Star Saturday in Minneapolis, led the Timberwolves in scoring for the month with 17.1 ppg. He got support from Doug West (15.8 ppg), Christian Laettner (15.7 ppg, team-high 8.7 rpg) and Micheal Williams (team-high 9.5 apg).

FEBRUARY (2-10, 16-37): Saddled by a pair of five-game losing streaks in February, the Timberwolves could only manage two wins in 12 games over the course of the month, giving them the worst overall February mark in team history. Minnesota's road woes continued, as it dropped all six games away from home. The Timberwolves' first win of the month came after the All-Star break, as they downed Milwaukee 97-90 on Feb. 15 at Target Center, led by Christian Laettner's 23 points and 13 boards. Minnesota's other win came in the final game of the month, 107-100 over Golden State on Feb. 27, behind rookie Isaiah Rider's 25 points. Rider made a name for himself at All-Star Weekend, which was held in Minneapolis, by winning the Gatorade Slam-Dunk Championship with a between-the-legs slam. Rider also led the Timberwolves in scoring (20.7 ppg) and Laettner was the rebounding leader (9.0 rpg). Chris Smith capably stepped in for the injured Micheal Williams at point guard, averaging 12.0 ppg and 7.8 apg over five games, including scoring 21 points in the win over the Warriors.

MARCH (3-13, 19-50): Starting off the month on an eight-game losing streak, the Timberwolves stumbled to the second-worst March in team history with 13 losses in 16 games. Coach Sidney Lowe used eight different starting lineups, and Minnesota finally snapped it losing skein with a 96-87 win over Philadelphia at Target Center on Mar. 15. The Timberwolves also won on the road at Philadelphia (100-98 on Mar. 18, behind Stacey King's 20 points and 16 rebounds) and at home against Houston (83-81 on Mar. 22, with Chris Smith scoring the winning basket off a rebound in the closing seconds). Christian Laettner led the club in rebounding (8.4 rpg) and also averaged 15.3 ppg. Rookie Isaiah Rider paced the Wolves in scoring with 16.2 ppg. King contributed 12.3 ppg and 5.9 rpg.

APRIL (1-12, 20-62): The Timberwolves limped to the finish line losing 12 of 13 games in the season's final month, including a season-high 10 straight. The month's lone victory came at home over the Los Angeles Clippers (110-100 on Apr. 6). Minnesota finished with a 13-28 record at Target Center, its best home mark since the 1990-91 season. Their seven road wins fell one shy of equaling the club record posted last season and in the 1990-91 campaign. Isaiah Rider set club rookie records for FGM (522) and FGA (1115). Mike Brown was the only player to see action in every game as he kept his consecutive game streak alive at 463. April also saw the Wolves sign forward Andres Guibert, who became the first Cuban-born player to play in an NBA game. Rider led the team in scoring for the month (18.7 ppg), pacing the club in points in azx of its final seven outings. Christian Laettner led the Wolves in rebounding in every month of the 1993-94 season, posting a 7.8 rpg average in April. Micheal Williams was the team assist leader for the month at 4.8 apg.

TIMBERWOLVES HISTORY

Important dates in the formation and development of the Minnesota Timberwolves:

JANUARY 12, 1984 Minnesota Governor Rudy Perpich appoints a 30-member task force, chaired by former NBA and Minneapolis Lakers great, George Mikan. The goal of the task force is to bring an NBA franchise back to Minnesota.

MARCH 4, 1986 Governor Perpich, Mikan and prospective Timberwolves owners, Twin Cities business partners Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson, present a $100,000 deposit for an expansion team at NBA headquarters in New York.

SEPTEMBER 3, 1986 An announcement is made that deposits will be taken for a possible Minnesota NBA team. On October 17, 43 days later, 8,746 commitments have been made — a key element for an October 20 presentation to NBA officials.

OCTOBER 20, 1986 Ratner, Wolfenson and attorney Bob Stein make a formal proposal to gain a franchise at the NBA governors meeting in Phoenix, AZ. The governors appoint an expansion committee to submit a recommendation at a later date.

DECEMBER, 1986 A "Name the Team" contest is held. An overwhelming response brings 6,076 entries featuring 1,284 different nicknames. "Timberwolves" is selected by a 2-to-1 margin over "Polars" in a vote of the 842 City Councils throughout the state.

FEBRUARY 20, 1987 The Minneapolis City Council approves a plan for a new arena to be built in downtown Minneapolis, located on First Avenue North between Sixth and Seventh Streets. Completion of the Arena, to be owned by prospective Timberwolves owners, Ratner and Wolfenson, is scheduled for use during the 1990-91 NBA season. The Timberwolves announce they will play until that time at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome.

APRIL 3, 1987 The NBA Expansion Committee recommends Minnesota be granted an NBA franchise for the 1989-90 season.

APRIL 22, 1987 The Board of Governors votes unanimously to expand the NBA by four teams — Miami and Charlotte in 1988-89, Minnesota and Orlando in 1989-90. The purchase price of $32.5 million is announced.

JUNE 15, 1987 Bob Stein is named Timberwolves President.

SEPTEMBER 17, 1987 The Timberwolves logo is unveiled at a news conference. A logo design contest conducted during the summer yielded more than 2,600 entries, with some coming from as far away as Norway, Alaska, Florida and California. The logo's first use is on a check for $20,000 that is donated to United Way — the funds reflect interest earned on season-ticket deposits to be donated to United Way bureaus in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

MAY 23, 1988 The Timberwolves announce the awarding of their radio contract to Malrite Communications, parent company of 50,000-watt WDGY-AM, which will be the flagship station for the Timberwolves Radio Network.

JULY 12, 1988 A site dedication ceremony for the Timberwolves' new arena takes place in downtown Minneapolis.

JULY 21, 1988 Billy McKinney is named Director of Player Personnel.

AUGUST 23, 1988 Bill Musselman is named head coach.

AUGUST 29, 1988 The Timberwolves announce an annual benefit exhibition game, the first of which will raise funds for the 1991 International Special Olympics Games to be held in the Twin Cities.

SEPTEMBER 1, 1988 KSTP-TV, Ch. 5, and KITN-TV, Ch. 29, announce a precedent-setting cooperative television partnership with the Timberwolves, which emphasizes community service as a priority of all three organizations. KSTP-TV, Hubbard Broadcasting's ABC affiliate, will air eight games each season and KITN-TV, the Fox Network affiliate, will broadcast 17 games.

OCTOBER 14, 1988 The Timberwolves announce the contribution of $45,425.96 to the United Way bureaus in Minneapolis and St. Paul, reflecting interest earned on more than 12,000 Timberwolves season-ticket deposits.

DECEMBER 31, 1988 The Timberwolves eclipse the NBA's expansion requirements, selling 11,300 season tickets (with at least 50 percent payment) more than 10 months prior to the 1989-90 season.

MARCH 1, 1989 Timberwolves owners Ratner and Wolfenson pay $16.25 million to the NBA, the final installment on the $32.5 million expansion fee.

JUNE 15, 1989 The Timberwolves select 11 players in the NBA Expansion Draft, led by Rick Mahorn, starting power forward from the World Champion Detroit Pistons. Other selections include Tyrone Corbin (Phoenix), Steve Johnson (Portland), Brad Lohaus (Sacramento), David Rivers (Los Angeles Lakers), Mark Davis (Milwaukee), Scott Roth (San Antonio), Shelton Jones (Philadelphia), Eric White (Los Angeles Clippers), Maurice Martin (Denver) and Gunther Behnke (Cleveland).

JUNE 27, 1989 Jerome "Pooh" Richardson, a point guard from UCLA, is the Timberwolves' first selection in the 1989 NBA Draft, the 10th pick overall. Missouri center Gary Leonard (34th overall) and Villanova guard Doug West (38th overall) are selected in the second round. More than 12,000 people pack the Minneapolis Convention Center for the Miller Genuine Draft Party, a local celebration of the Timberwolves' inaugural NBA Draft.

JUNE 28, 1989 Timberwolves game uniforms are unveiled. The team will wear white home jerseys with blue numbers and green, white and silver trim. The road jerseys are blue with green numbers, trimmed in white and silver. The Timberwolves logo appears on each leg of the uniform shorts.

OCTOBER 6, 1989 The Timberwolves' first training camp opens at the 98th Street Racquet, Swim & Health Club in Bloomington, MN.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record -- regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Minnesota Timberwolves organization strongly believes they can have a positive impact on the Twin Cities area and feel that they have an obligation to become an important asset to the communities they represent. The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to the community and sponsor charitable activities in the Twin Cities area, as well as the Upper Midwest region. The manager of the Timberwolves Community Relations Department is Bill McMoore.

For more information about Timberwolves Community Relations programs, please call 673-1634.

BLOOD DRIVE

The Timberwolves staff participate in a semi-annual blood drive in conjunction with the Memorial Blood Center. Twice a year, an average of 40 contributors take part in the program.

BUCKS FOR BUCKETS

Each season the Timberwolves, in conjunction with the Salvation Army and KFAN Radio, designate a game when fans pledge a sum of money for every point the team scores. Pledges of any amount are accepted, and the funds raised go to the Salvation Army's Harbor Light Multi-Service Center.

COURAGE CENTER

The Courage Center promotes independence, self-esteem and dignity for people with physical or sensory disabilities. The Timberwolves are supporting and outfitting the men's and women's "A" basketball team, "The Rolling Timberwolves." This past season, the Rolling Timberwolves played three games against Phoenix, Denver and Utah, joining the Minnesota Timberwolves on a road trip out west.

GRANT HUSSEY FOUNDATION

The Grant Hussey Foundation was formed in the spring of 1994 in memory of Grant, an Eden Prairie youth who was abducted and murdered. The foundation's mission is to install a new communication system designed to dispense information about missing or endangered children immediately. Last season, the Timberwolves organization raised funds for the foundation by holding a silent auction and donating a portion of ticket sales from the April 17th game, and this season more fundraising programs designed to contribute to the foundation have been planned.

HOSPITAL VISITS

The Timberwolves make a concerted effort to visit patients at local children's hospitals on both a team and individual basis. During the holiday season, the Timberwolves team, front office staff and Nestle' Crunch sponsor the annual Children's Hospital Tour.

INTERN PROGRAM

An internship designed for college students with Sports Management as a major emphasis was implemented during the 1990-91 season. Since that time, three former students have completed the intern requirements and are employed in Sports Management positions or in related fields of endeavor. This program will be in effect during the 1994-95 season.

NBA SCHOLARSHIPS

Each spring the Timberwolves and the NBA in conjunction with the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE) and the National Teachers Recruitment Program provide scholarships to graduating high-school seniors who wish to pursue a career in teaching. For more information, please write:

NBA STAY-IN-SCHOOL PROGRAM

Last season, the Minnesota Timberwolves joined forces with the NBA and the Minnesota Department of Education to participate in the league's top public service initiative, the Stay-in-School Program. Designed to include the public middle level and junior high schools of Anoka, Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott and Washington counties, last year's program encompassed 53 middle schools in the seven county area.

TIX FOR KIDS

Season ticket holders can donate unused tickets back to the Timberwolves, who in turn, distribute them to youth charities and organizations. This gives children who would not otherwise have the opportunity a chance to attend a Timberwolves game. Since the program's inception, more than 50,000 tickets were donated.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Timberwolves provide members of the front office staff, players and coaches as speakers for various functions, community groups and charitable organizations.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES FOUNDATION

Working in conjunction with Community Relations is the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, a 501 (c)(3) private charity. The foundation's programs support charitable projects which positively impact youth in such areas as family, education, drug awareness, health, race relations and employment. Since the inception of the foundation in 1989, proceeds raised through the foundation have passed the $1,000,000 mark.

The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to youth. In the upcoming years, the organization as a whole will continue to concentrate its efforts on providing opportunities for youth. The Foundation and Community Relations department will develop programs and work with existing organizations to ensure that young people in our community have every possible chance to make good, sound decisions which will positively affect their lives.

For more information, contact Kristy Pierce, executive director of the Timberwolves Foundation, at 673-1633.

BOYS IN THE HOOD JUNIOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE

This league's goal is to redirect young men, ages 15 to 22, involved in negative activity and provide positive alternatives. The league, now in its fourth year, has attracted more than 500 participants.

CHILDREN'S DEFENSE FUND

For the second year, the Timberwolves Foundation sponsored the Children's Defense Fund's "Beat the Odds" banquet. This event focuses on the positive potential of young people by recognizing their outstanding accomplishments.

HMONG AMERICAN PARTNERSHIP

The number of Hmong gangs continues to grow. This fact led the Hmong American Partnership (HAP) to pursue a prevention program for these youth. The efforts of HAP, in conjunction with the Minnesota Timberwolves, resulted in a basketball league designed specifically for this target audience.

PRO-AM LEAGUES

For the first time, the men's division of the Pro-Am league merged with the already successful Howard Pulley basketball league. In addition, a college men's and women's division was added, while the high-school aged Prep and Night Howl divisions continued to grow. All divisions emphasize the importance of staying in school and leading a life free of drugs.

PROJECT REBOUND

Project Rebound is designed to voice a strong stay-in-school message to at-risk junior-high students and recognize students who achieve academic growth through improved school attendance and study skills. A curriculum was developed specifically for this program and includes self-esteem building, study skills, mentoring and motivation, as well as all of the other necessary components needed to ensure that these at-risk youth have every possible opportunity to succeed in school and in life.

NBA PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAMS

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On a national level, the NBA is involved in numerous public service initiatives.

Since 1989, the NBA and the National Basketball Players Association have worked to draw attention to this country's alarming drop-out statistics through the national NBA Stay-in-School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the Stay-in-School program uses the popularity and visibility of NBA players and coaches to encourage young people to develop self-esteem, set goals and dedicate themselves to learning.

Through public service announcements on TV, radio and other awareness-building projects, the NBA and its players also support the work of the Special Olympics, CARE, the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Operation Prom/Graduation, a program that urges high school students to celebrate an alcohol-free prom and graduation season. The NBA also produces and airs public service announcements saluting the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., celebrating Black History Month each February and for Second Harvest, a nationwide food bank network which feeds the hungry in all 50 states.

COVERING THE WOLVES

KEVIN HARLAN Play-By-Play Announcer

The energetic and enthusiastic Kevin Harlan returns as the voice of the Timberwolves. Entering his sixth season in Minnesota, Harlan has become one of the most recognizable voices in sports broadcasting, and his high-energy play-by-play style has been a Timberwolves trademark since the team's inception.

Harlan adds a full schedule of NFL football games this fall, joining the Fox televison network as a play-by-play broadcaster. National broadcasts are nothing new to Harlan, who has worked with NBC and ESPN in the past. His reputation, experience and national network presence continues to grow and is part of every Wolves broadcast.

In addition to providing radio play-by-play for the Wolves, Harlan, 34, will also call the action for all 25 televised games to be shown throughout the region.

Harlan has been on a fast track to success since graduating from the University of Kansas in 1982. At the age of 22, he landed his first job as the radio and television voice of the Kansas City Kings, a job he held for two years until the team moved to Sacramento. The versatile Harlan spent nine seasons as the voice of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and also called game action for ESPN on the collegiate football level last fall. Prior to that, Harlan called play-by-play for both football and basketball at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri.

Along with his ESPN duties, Harlan has also done play-by-play on NFL national telecasts for NBC Sports and covered the NBA's conference finals for the NBA radio network.

Born in Milwaukee, Harlan is the son of Green Bay Packers President Bob Harlan. His brother, Bryan, is the public relations director for the Chicago Bears.

TOM HANNEMAN Broadcast Studio Anchor

One of the most versatile and familiar voices in Minnesota sports broadcasting, Tom Hanneman begins his sixth season as studio anchor of the Timberwolves Radio Network and the Timberwolves Television Network.

Recognized for his smooth and melifluous delivery, Hanneman is the only person in Timberwolves history to take part in every broadcast since the team's inception. Hanneman's talents have also received nationwide exposure. He's entering his fourth season as the studio host of NBA Radio, anchoring a 140-station network that features the All-Star Weekend, the NBA Game of the Week and expanded NBA playoff and draft coverage. This past off-season, Hanneman's NBA Radio work took him to Toronto to host the World Championship of Basketball for the network.

Hanneman was not unfamiliar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. Along with his NBA Radio visibility, Hanneman has also made an impression on the national scene with his coverage of the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo for CBS-TV, as well as his work for ESPN with marathoner Frank Shorter, covering the men's and women's U.S. Olympic team trials at the Twin Cities Marathon in 1987. His personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

CHAD HARTMAN Play-By-Play Announcer

Chad Hartman enters his fourth season of broadcasting Minnesota Timberwolves basketball games. As play-by-play announcer on the Prime Sports Network (PSN), Hartman delivers a succinct and well-informed narrative of the action on the floor. But these duties remain only a part of his ever-expanding broadcasting resume.

In his third year with PSN, Hartman will provide play-by-play for the 25 Timberwolves games shown on the cable network. He also fills in on Timberwolves radio broadcasts when regular play-by-play announcer Kevin Harlan moves to the television broadcasts.

In addition to his basketball duties, Hartman has worked on PSN's tennis broadcasts and has provided play-by-play for Minnesota Twins baseball games and Minnesota Gopher football games broadcast on Midwest Sports Channel.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1988, spent two seasons announcing play-by-play in the Continental Basketball Association, one year each with the La Crosse Catbirds and the Rochester Flyers. He has also spent one season as the play-by-play voice of the Minnesota Twins Class AA baseball club, the Orlando Twins. Along with Twin Cities Star Tribune columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts a popular afternoon drive-time call-in radio show on KFAN.

Hartman, 29, and his wife, Kathleen, reside in Plymouth, MN.

GREG KELSER Broadcast Analyst

Entering his fourth year on the Prime Sports Network broadcast team, Greg Kelser joins play-by-play announcer Chad Hartman for 25 Timberwolves telecasts this season. Kelser, a veteran of five seasons in the NBA, is also a seasoned broadcast analyst, who has been working Detroit Pistons games on television and radio since 1988.

In addition, Kelser has provided analysis for a number of college basketball telecasts, including the NCAA Tournament. As a player, Kelser played with the Pistons and the Seattle SuperSonics in the NBA, and he also played with Earvin "Magic" Johnson at Michigan State, helping the Spartans win the 1979 NCAA championship.

NBA RADIO

The National Basketball Association became the first professional sports league to produce its own "in-house" national radio package with the debut of NBA RADIO in 1992. Each broadcast is produced by the Timberwolves broadcast department at Target Center.

In addition to the All-Star Game, NBA RADIO broadcasts more than 15 regular-season games, weekend games through the first two rounds of the NBA playoffs, and each game of the eastern and western conference finals, as well as the NBA Finals and the NBA Draft.

The voice of NBA RADIO is former Twin Cities broadcaster Joe McConnell (play-by-play). Tom Hanneman (studio host), who serves as the Timberwolves television and radio anchor, serves in the same role for NBA RADIO.

CORPORATE PARTNERS

The corporate philosophy of the Timberwolves franchise and Target Center is reflected in the organization's approach to its corporate partners program. That approach, while consistent with those taken by a number of industry leaders is more aggressive than that of any other sports entertainment facility or team. The approach utilizes inclusive programs that integrate all the elements which the team and Target Center can offer to promote the products and services of its corporate partners. From television, radio, signage, publications and client entertainment to retail promotions, trade incentives and participation in the charitable/community service projects, the corporate partners program provide an unusually integrated and effective association. There is a relatively small number of corporations involved in these programs, which are founded on the principle that the relationships should have a positive impact on the corporate partners' bottom line.

The Timberwolves corporate partnerships include the following organizations:

CELLULAR ONE

COCA-COLA
